Fax: 780-342-2060 | How do I access long-term care? In order to access a senior’s living option, including long-term care, you need to undergo an assessment by a Home Care Registered Nurse*.
You can access Alberta Health Services Home Care services if you:
Live in Alberta
Have an Alberta Health Care number, or
Have applied for and are eligible to receive Alberta Health Care coverage
To get more information on seniors living options or to book an assessment, contact the local Home Care Program, talk to your family doctor or call HEALTHLink Alberta Toll-Free 1-866-408-5465.
* In some parts of the province, other allied health-care professionals (i.e. physical therapists, occupational therapists, social workers) also complete assessments. |

| BRITISH COLUMBIA  | Ministry of Health Services    | MINISTRY OF HEALTH SERVICES 1515 BLANSHARD STREET VICTORIA BC V8W 3C8 | British Columbia Health Authorities-6 Home and community care services provide a range of health care and support services for eligible residents who have acute, chronic, palliative or rehabilitative health care needs. These services are designed to complement and supplement, but not replace, the efforts of individuals to care for themselves with the assistance of family, friends and community. In-home services, for eligible clients, include home care nursing, rehabilitation, home support and palliative care. Community-based services include adult day programs, meal programs, as well as assisted living, residential care services and hospice care. Case management services are provided in both the home and community. Home and community care services:
   - support clients to remain independent and in their own homes for as long as possible;
   - provide services at home to clients who would otherwise require admission to hospital or would stay longer in hospital;
   - provide assisted living and residential care |
